The CWRU Psychology Clinic is a mental health service and training center operated by the Department of Psychology. Therapy services are provided by graduate students enrolled in the Clinical Psychology Ph.D. program at CWRU. All student therapists are closely supervised by licensed psychologists. Services are provided on a sliding scale based on family financial resources and family size. Every effort is made to arrive at a fee you can afford. Fees range from $5 to $50 per session. You will not be charged for your initial intake appointment.
